

Using your own Chromebook

You can use multiple accounts on a standard Chromebook, which includes your SHU Google account.

It is a good idea to keep personal and University data separate and using a personal Chromebook whilst logged in as your username@my.shu.ac.uk code will provide a number benefits whilst logged in with your Sheffield Hallam University code.

You will have access to your University Google Apps, including your University email and Google Drive and you will also be able to print to University printers.

Your profile will be configured with SHU settings such as the wallpaper, Managed bookmarks and applications on the shelf. This is just for the profile associated with your @my.shu.ac.uk account, not your personal account.
